

A topographic map of Southeast Asia, showing the Malay Peninsula, Sumatra, and the Indonesian archipelago. The map uses a color scale to represent elevation, with green for low-lying areas and yellow/brown for higher elevations. A legend in the top right corner indicates sea level and provides land and forest area statistics.

MIB Monthly Intelligence Briefing November 2020

INTRODUCTION

The Monthly Intelligence Briefing (MIB) represents a combination of an “old school” scouting report and a graphics-based in-depth analysis of current activities, currently covering Indonesia. This is issued on a monthly basis, adding unique detail to coverage that may or may not be available elsewhere.
